Monmouthshire, found just over the England-Wales border, is brilliantly located for conferences and meetings. The natural environment lends itself to problem-solving and team-building activities.

With the Wye Valley and its host of water activities on one side of the county and the Brecon Beacons National Park on the other, with plenty of beautiful countryside in the middle, there is always an activity to pick up and something to do. And the well-equipped hotel network provides a selection of venues from secluded country house retreats to hospitality suites and small quirky venues all located close to main transport routes. You'll find great conference facilities with all your business needs throughout our county. Check out the wider visitor experience at www.VisitMonmouthshire.com
